Seeking a New City Manager to Serve the People of Salinas

by Chamber Staff

Did you fill out the electronic survey in late November to tell City of Salinas leaders what qualities you want to see in the next City Manager?

As announced in the Salinas Valley Chamber of Commerce electronic "Word to the Members" on November 21, 2023, "The Mayor and City Councilmembers need to hear from you!" because "the search for Salinas' next City Manager will begin soon."

Survey participants were asked to rank the importance of various experience and leadership qualities desirable in a City Manager. The survey questions can be found on Page 24. Answers from the public will give the Mayor and City Council guidance as they recruit potential candidates for City Manager.

What Is a City Manager?

Municipal affairs in the City of Salinas are governed by a Charter, which can be described as the city's constitution. Section 7.5 of the Charter establishes a "Council-Manager form of government" for the City of Salinas.

Section 7.1 of the Charter states that "The City Council may appoint a City Manager and City Attorney on terms that it specifies to serve at the pleasure of the City Council." In turn, Section 7.5 gives its City Manager "power to appoint, all such

Monterey County Commuter Rail: Progress Continues Toward Vision

by Kevin Dayton, Governmental Affairs Liaison

The ambitious project to connect Monterey County with the San Francisco Bay Area (and beyond) via commuter rail continues to advance.

The Transportation Agency for Monterey County (TAMC) is overseeing the long-term "Monterey County Rail Extension Project" in coordination with the City of Salinas, the City of Gilroy, Caltrain (the Peninsula/South Bay commuter rail system between San Francisco and Gilroy), Caltrans, the California State Transportation Agency (CalSTA), Union Pacific Railroad, and various public utilities such as Pacific Gas & Electric (PG&E). Monterey-Salinas Transit (MST) and the Salinas City Center Improvement Association

Kimbley Craig, then a Salinas City Councilmember and now Salinas Mayor, speaks at the groundbreaking for the Monterey County Rail Extension Project in August 2018.

(SCCIA) also have interests in this project.

Pessimism Turns Into Achievement

Preparation for the Monterey County Rail Extension was ongoing in the early and mid-2010s, when TAMC was seeking funding and working to acquire properties around the Salinas train station for a future Downtown Salinas Intermodal Transportation Center. TAMC was also working with the City of Salinas to design an extension

Happy New Year!

by Jennifer L. Williams, SVCC Board Chair

I am humbled and privileged to serve you as the Salinas Valley Chamber of Commerce Board Chair for 2024.

On behalf of the Chamber Board and membership, thank you, Bill Hastie, Hastie Financial Group, our outgoing Chair, for your consistent leadership and the tremendous amount of time you dedicated to the Chamber. I've learned so much from Bill and several past Board Chairs and Board members over the past few years.

I have served on the Executive Committee for the past four years as the Vice Chair of Government Relations and the Chair-Elect. I've also served as the Chair of the Business Development Committee over the past year.

We are grateful to be starting 2024 with a new, highly experienced CEO, Karin Moss, leading the Chamber. I am confident that she will bring best practices and creative ideas to the organization.

We are also fortunate to have two new board members in 2024, including Tiffany Fournier, Director of Business Development, Slingshot Connections and Chamber Ambassador, and Clement Miller, Chief Operating Officer, Salinas Valley Health.

The 2024 Chair-Elect is Leonard Batti (Vice President, Taylor Farms). Board members Tom Moran (President & CEO, Goodwill Central Coast) will continue as Vice Chair of Finance, and Amy Gibson (Accounting Manager, Central Coast Federal Credit Union) will continue as Vice Chair of Events. Starla Warren (Founder, HDC Affordable Housing) and Aaron Johnson (JRG Attorneys) will join the Executive Committee as Vice Chairs of Membership and Government Relations, respectively. We look forward to building a pipeline of future Executive Committee leaders that expand the organization's skills and diversity.

The Chamber Ambassadors are a gift to all of us. We are thankful for each of you and look forward to another year of your support with all of the Chamber's events and activities!

The Board continues to focus on its 2023 – 2025 Strategic Plan and will gather later this month to review and refine the priorities for 2024. Your Chamber of Commerce is committed to building a strong local economy by promoting sound government and an informed membership and community. The Chamber envisions "A thriving, welcoming Salinas Valley where People, Families, and Businesses succeed via economic opportunity and growth." I read an article a while back where Richard Vaughn, our County Economic Development Manager, said one of the things he is focused on is helping the county's vulnerable populations better access the economy that exists. That aligns with what we believe: Prosperity and Well-being for ALL.

I often share that I am not a subject matter expert on the issues of significance to our community and the Chamber, such as Water and Housing. I have learned, though, to surround myself with experts and get out of their way. I also earned my National Certification in Professional Mediation in 2023 to help me navigate the different ideas that we are able to pursue as we seek to address these ongoing challenges. I look forward to working with all of you to fulfill our strategies and help everyone thrive in 2024!

Goodwill Central Coast: A Green Revolution for a Sustainable Tomorrow

by Goodwill of the Central Coast Staff

In the heart of Central Coast, Goodwill stands not only as a beacon of affordability but also as a champion for environmental sustainability. The green initiatives undertaken by Goodwill Central Coast go beyond providing affordable second-hand treasures; they contribute to a more sustainable and eco-friendly future. 🌱

REDUCING FASHION FOOTPRINT

Goodwill Central Coast is a haven for fashion enthusiasts with a conscience. By offering a wide array of second-hand clothing, shoes, and accessories, Goodwill reduces the demand for new production. This reduction in demand translates to a decreased environmental impact associated with the manufacturing, transportation, and disposal of clothing.

RECYCLING BEYOND CLOTHES

The green philosophy at Goodwill Central Coast extends to more than just clothing. The organization actively promotes using recycled hangers, reducing the demand for new plastic production. This seemingly small change contributes to a significant reduction in plastic waste and aligns with Goodwill's commitment to making sustainable choices at every level.

SHOPPING WITH A PURPOSE

When you shop at Goodwill Central Coast, you're not just making a purchase but contributing to a larger purpose. Your choices support the organization's mission of helping people overcome challenges, build skills, find jobs, and grow their careers through the power of work. It's not just about acquiring things; it's about creating positive change in the community and the environment.

UPCYCLING AND REPURPOSING

Every donation that finds its way to Goodwill is a potential masterpiece. The commitment to upcycling and repurposing items transforms them into unique treasures and prevents them from ending up in landfills. From furniture to fashion, Goodwill breathes new life into items that might have been discarded.

LANDFILL WASTE REDUCTION

The impact of Goodwill's green approach is most evident in its commitment to reducing landfill waste. Items that might have otherwise added to the growing waste in landfills find new homes through the doors of Goodwill. The organization actively works towards extending the life cycle of products, minimizing waste, and creating a more circular economy.

GOODWILL CENTRAL COAST ISN'T JUST A THRIFT STORE

It's a green revolution. With each thrift find, recycling effort, and commitment to sustainability, Goodwill stands as a testament to the positive impact that conscious consumer choices can make on the planet. Join the movement towards a more sustainable tomorrow by embracing the green initiatives of Goodwill Central Coast—one purchase at a time.

of Lincoln Avenue and improve circulation and parking at the train station on Market Street.

Some Monterey County residents at that time believed the Rail to Monterey County project was a fanciful concept unlikely to get started, let alone be completed. Downtown Salinas was speckled with blighted and vacant buildings, and its infrastructure was drab and outdated. The County of Monterey had shifted much of its workforce from Downtown offices to the former Capital One building on Schilling Place. One of the abandoned buildings on Market Street near the train station was even re-purposed in the winter of 2016-2017 as a warming shelter for the homeless.

But on August 9, 2018, TAMC hosted a Monterey County Rail Extension Project groundbreaking ceremony on the crumbling asphalt parking lot at the Salinas train station. Soon afterwards, the blighted buildings near the station were demolished.

TAMC awarded a construction contract for the Monterey County Rail Extension Project Phase 1 (Salinas Kick Start Project) Package 1 of 3 (Salinas Commuter Rail Station) in April 2019. The project was completed in March 2021. An unsightly area around the train station was transformed into an Intermodal Transportation Center.

This project occurred in conjunction with numerous other projects related to implementation of the 2015 Salinas Downtown Vibrancy Plan, including the Main Street Streetscape Project and the West Alisal/Lincoln Avenue Downtown Complete Streets Project. In 2019, the El Charrito burrito purveyor renovated its building nearby on Market Street. Developers responded to City of Salinas requests with proposals for new density housing and commercial development near the Intermodal Transportation Center.

Adjacent to the train station, the historic Southern Pacific Freight Depot was renovated and converted into the Salinas California Welcome Center, with its beautiful museum of Central Coast history. Monterey County residents began promoting a possible "Heritage Park" comprised of the historic buildings at the Intermodal Transportation Center (such as the First Mayor's House).

An area to avoid has become an area with potential.

What's Next?

Package 2 of 3 for the Monterey County Rail Extension Project Phase 1 is a layover facility in Salinas for the commuter trains. As of December

New Rules from Secure Act 2.0 Affecting Retirement Plans in 2024

by Haley Hitchman, AIF®, CPFA®

The Secure 2.0 Act was established December 29, 2022, in an effort to encourage employers to provide retirement savings options for their employees and lower the obstacles for individuals to save for their retirement. Secure 2.0 builds on the Setting Every Community Up for Retirement Enhancement (SECURE) Act originally established in 2019. The Secure 2.0 Act had 92 provisions, so we will be focusing on just a few that have become active in 2024 and that relate to company-sponsored retirement plans.

First, we will discuss Roth features that have changed as of January 1, 2024. Individuals with designated Roth money in their company-sponsored retirement plan have, in the past, been subject to the required minimum distribution (RMD) rules, unlike in a Roth IRA where the RMD rules do not apply. The passing of Secure 2.0 has changed the requirement for participants designated Roth money in retirement plans to coincide with the RMD rules of Roth IRAs and no longer requires those balances to be considered in the RMD calculation.

Other Roth requirements that are changing in Secure 2.0 are the catch-up contribution provisions for those age 50 and older and earning over $145,000 in compensation for the previous year. Those individuals will be required to designate their catch-up portion as Roth, no longer allowing them the tax deduction of that portion contributed to the plan. Originally this provision would have been effective in 2024, however the IRS announced an administrative delay on this provision which now won't begin until the 2026 plan year to give companies more time to amend their plans if needed to add the Roth option.

Other Secure 2.0 requirements becoming active in 2024 are provisions that make it easier for participants to take a pre-retirement distribution (prior to age 59 ½) without penalty if needed. Under this provision, participants can take a $1,000 maximum once per year for emergencies. Self-certification of the emergency is allowed, and the distribution is repayment eligible within 3 years. This provision would not allow additional distributions during the repayment period unless the original amount is repaid in full. Victims of domestic violence can take up to $10,000 or 50% of their vested amount and can also self-certify.

In addition to the participant distributions, companies can set up an optional plan provision that would allow up to 3% or $2,500 contribution, whichever is less, to be designated as an emergency savings account. Contributions to these accounts are treated as Roth and held in cash and made available to participants as needed.

Beginning in 2024, companies have the flexibility to utilize any matching contributions for their participants who make student loan payments. This gives the employee the benefit of continuing payments on their student loans, while still saving for retirement.

If you are a company plan sponsor of a retirement plan it is beneficial for you to be in contact with your service providers to ensure you are compliant with these and the other provisions for 2024 and those that will be implemented in the future. ☞

73rd Annual Children's Shopping Tour Spreading Smiles: A Triumph in Giving

by Chamber Staff

The Salinas Area Chamber of Commerce Foundation proudly hosted the 73rd Annual Children's Shopping Tour on December 9th at Northridge Mall. This cherished event, established decades ago by the Salinas Jaycees, brought together 400 children in 1st through 4th grades for a memorable shopping experience aimed at providing much-needed winter and school clothes.

The success of the Children's Shopping Tour relies on the collaboration of school districts and teachers who identify the neediest children in our community. The event also owes its success to the dedication of hundreds of volunteers and chaperones who showed up to ensure the children had an amazing shopping experience.

"It was a busy few months getting ready for the event! It was amazing to see the incredible turnout of volunteers, and the unwavering support from our sponsors that made it a wonderful experience for the children. As a foundation board member, I am proud to be a part of an organization that continues to make a positive difference in the lives of our local children. After volunteering for the last few years, I can't wait to do it again next year!" said Salinas Foundation Board Member Greg Hamer.

A huge THANK YOU goes to the Children's Shopping Tour committee members: Cynthia Martinez, Evette Selva-Kirby, George Gonzales, Greg Hamer, Cristal Hamer, Armando Soria, Miguel Santamaria, Dexter Farm, David Poulin, Jr., Amy Salmina, Jose Barajas and Jennifer Russell. We also greatly appreciate the Salinas Valley Chamber staff who stepped up and did an incredible job helping to coordinate the event: Willa Doroy, Gabriel Lopez, Jasmine Bhardwaj, Bryan Cabello, Cesar Chavez, and Karin Moss. We also couldn't have done it without the cooperation of Northridge Mall and their marketing manager, Celia Garcia.

Thanks also to our Northridge Mall shopping Partners: JC Penney, Macy's, A Children's Place, Journeys and Old Navy.

The Salinas Chamber Foundation extends its heartfelt gratitude to the sponsors whose generosity made this event a reality. Their support underscores the community's commitment to ensuring that every child has the opportunity to enjoy the holiday season.

The Foundation extends its heartfelt gratitude to the Clockwise from top: The kids had a great time picking out new clothes! Long-time volunteer Dexter Farm hams it up with Elf! A chaperone helps a child with her selections; High School students did a fantastic job at the tag-cutting table!

The Threat of Flooding Continues

by Monterey County Farm Bureau

During the atmospheric rivers that hit California in January and March of 2023, Monterey County farmland encountered extensive flooding that had not been experienced since 1995. The flood patterns were somewhat similar when compared, even though the actual rainfall amount was nearly 2/3 less than what fell in March 1995.

The damage was extensive; over 20,000 acres of cropland, ranchland, and vineyards went under water, sometimes for weeks before waters could recede off the land and back into the river channel. Damage estimates to crops and agricultural infrastructure exceeded $600 million, and another $400 million was spent cleaning up debris, reshaping farmland, rebuilding levees, and replacing damaged infrastructure and buildings. Overall, an impact of over $1 billion without any meaningful state or federal rescue aid.

Our County suffered over $50 million in damages due to bridge washouts, roadway flooding, and drainage culverts needing replacement. Highway 101, our main arterial roadway through the County, was flooded and caused roadway damage and traffic nightmares. And our local municipalities suffered damage to their water reclamation systems that provide critical water quality operations for our communities.

What caused all this damage is a diminished flow capacity of the Salinas River after decades of limited maintenance of sediment, sandbars, vegetation, and levee integrity. After the 1995 flood event, landowners were given permission to complete substantial maintenance work in the channel to improve capacity flow and direct water away from vulnerable levee systems; this avoided a repeat of the flooding event when 1998 brought another substantial rainfall to our river system. Channel maintenance was proven to be effective in removing most of the flooding risk to farmland and vineyards, as well as protecting vital public infrastructure.

In the successive decades, multiple state and federal agencies have curtailed permit scope for river channel work in the Salinas River watershed region. This has caused an excess of native and non-native vegetation to gain control of the river channel, diverting water flow away from the main flow channel and into secondary channels that may not have existed previously. Additionally, the scouring of the river channel for sediment has been diminished due in part to the excessive vegetation and lack of maintenance in the main flow channel.

Part of the complexity of permitting work in the river channel is that the Salinas River is privately owned and is not a water of the state or federal government. Multiple landowners need to participate in the expensive permitting process each year to obtain permission to work on their own land to protect their farms adjacent to the river channel.

After the winter flooding events, Monterey County Farm Bureau on behalf of the landowners, farm operations, vineyards, and ranches along the river channel, approached all agencies with jurisdiction over the Salinas River watershed. We hoped an open and collaborative process would bring the multiple agency objectives congruent to allow for more concerted work to improve the river channel capacity flow, eliminate the non-native vegetation creating water dams, and remove significant amounts of sediment and sandbars in the main flow channel that cause diversion into secondary channels.

There was some initial recognition by the multiple agencies involved that the channel and levee systems were inadequate but permitting restrictions stood in the way; mainly, access to do work in the low flow channel was prohibited in all permits.

Then, Governor Newsom issued an executive order that allowed state agencies more flexibility for flood mitigation work in those rivers that experienced catastrophic flooding. This helped somewhat ease the permitting restrictions by state agencies, but not the federal agencies. We asked those federal agencies to match the Governor's executive order strategy and were turned down flatly; the existing permits would stay in place, prohibiting work in the most critical part of the river channel for flow capacity.

If federal permits for channel work were to be expanded, a new river survey was needed, hydrologic analysis of flow capacity had to be studied, and each individual parcel (ownership) of the river channel would need to provide detailed work plans and environmental impacts to the river channel. Clearly, this would take years to complete and with a predicted El Niño event coming this winter, not in time to save our farm, ranch, and vineyard lands from further flood risk and exposure.

This all demonstrates that government agency objectives come first before protecting vital food production from flood exposure, and that our public infrastructure remains at risk simply because the river channel cannot be maintained for proper flow capacity.

We are certainly not advocating for environmental destruction of our river channel to improve flow capacity; indeed, our work calls for enhancing the channel for fish passage, native habitat, and a reasonable balance between flood mitigation and a healthy river system. Landowners and farm operations are willing to pay for this maintenance work, not impacting any public dollars or budgets.

Too bad the agencies involved cannot see the bigger picture and would rather mandate that flood recovery prevails over prevention efforts. 🌱

Did You Know?

During the month December, local farm fields will not be producing lettuce but not for the reason you may think! In order to break the cycles of pests and diseases, mainly in the soils, all farmers agree to not grow lettuce for most of December. Fields will sit idle, allowing the soil to rest and absorb moisture from precipitation; come spring, when new crops are planted, there will be less exposure to diseases and pests that impact lettuce quality and yields.

During the winter months, lettuce is grown in southeast California and southwestern Arizona, where the climate is favorable for cooler season production. Lettuce production will resume in the Salinas Valley in early spring 2024.

ALBA Celebrates Two Decades of Cultivating Success: A 20-Year Anniversary Milestone

ALBA, a trailblazing nonprofit dedicated to fostering organic farming among limited-resource farmers, proudly marks its 20th year of empowering aspiring agricultural entrepreneurs in the Salinas Valley, releasing a report Oct. 18 showcasing its accomplishments.

Impact Assessment Report Highlights:

- Overall, 77 of 181 alumni surveyed are now operating their own farm business, which is 43% of those surveyed.
- Mexican immigrants comprised 58% of respondents, of whom 56% are currently operating a farm business. At 16 acres, they have a larger average farm size than other demographic groups, and more than 60% rely on farming for the majority of household income.
- U.S. born Latinos were the only other group that came close, with 37% operating farms of an average of 12 acres.
- Other respondent groups (e.g. Whites, and immigrants from 10 other countries) had both a lower farm ownership rate (17%) and average farm size (3 acres).
- Despite farming on relatively small plots, nearly 70% of independent Latino-owned farms surveyed are in the top quartile of American farms in terms of sales, and nearly 20% are in the top decile.
- Among those who returned to the workforce, nearly 60% have jobs strongly related to organic farming and food.

WeatherTech Raceway Laguna Seca Cars & Coffee Gives in 2023 to Local Charities

In December, WeatherTech Raceway Laguna Seca marked the culmination of its Cars & Coffee season with a festive twist, transforming the event into a fundraiser and toy drive for CASA of Monterey County. Over 400 cars rolled in filled with holiday spirit, resulting in an impressive $2,500 in donations, and three carloads of donated toys to CASA, adding a touch of magic to the season for children in need. Coastal Roots Hospitality warmed visitors with complimentary hot coffee and cocoa, while also offering tamales for sale. It was the fourth and final event of the 2023 season and garnered overwhelming community support. Each Cars & Coffee gathering has become not only a celebration of automotive passion but also a platform for giving back to the community. This season's events transformed into fundraising activities, raising over $10,000 for local causes including the SPCA and a relief fund for the community of Pajaro, highlighting the track's commitment to making a positive impact locally. Anthony Jimenez from Monterey Cars & Coffee played a crucial role this year, rallying volunteers to help park and direct traffic at each of the track's four events. WeatherTech Raceway staff is also grateful for the help of their incredible sponsors Coastal Roots, Good Boy Bob Coffee, Monterey Touring Vehicles, Tanimura & Antle, and My Chevrolet who helped to make the Cars & Coffee events possible and often came out in support for each cause.

2023, the Salinas Layover Facility is in final design, and TAMC has acquired the property for it. Package 3 of 3 for Phase 1 - improvements at the Gilroy station and on the track between Salinas and Gilroy - is also in final design.

Meanwhile, TAMC and numerous agency partners are obtaining funding and making plans for the Monterey County Rail Extension Project Phase 2: development of a Pajaro/Watsonville Multimodal Transit Hub. This will be the connection point for rail commuters on a Santa Cruz Branch light rail line to go to Salinas and then to the San Francisco Bay Area and beyond. In April 2023, TAMC received a state grant to complete environmental review for this station. It's an opportunity to bring hope to the beleaguered unincorporated Monterey County community of Pajaro.

Phase 3 of the Monterey County Rail Extension Project will be a multi-modal station in Castroville to serve as the connection point for rail commuters from the Monterey Peninsula. Far in the future is the dream of a Monterey Branch light rail line that would connect this station with stations on the Monterey Peninsula.

If This Plan Works, What Will Happen?

Once rail commuters from Monterey County get to Gilroy, they can continue on the Caltrain commuter rail all the way to San Francisco. Along the way they can transfer to the Capitol Corridor line, Bay Area Rapid Transit (BART), Amtrak, and a future Valley Link to Northern San Joaquin County. A California High-Speed Rail station is planned at the Gilroy train station.

After all of this government money is spent to create these train networks, will people ride them? How will new public transportation connections affect economic development, urban revitalization, housing availability, and traffic congestion in Monterey County?

Some Monterey County residents are skeptical and cynical about the benefits of the project in relation to the costs to taxpayers. Others are wary of how their communities would change if the commuter rail actually becomes popular.

Changes bring challenges; however, your Chamber of Commerce believes the Monterey County Rail Extension Project will help advance the Chamber's official vision of "a thriving, welcoming Salinas Valley where people, families and businesses succeed via economic growth and opportunity."

Salinas Train Station today.

Multi-story density housing will likely sprout up around the three new train stations in Salinas, Pajaro, and Castroville. Agriculture-related technology in Salinas may get a boost with a commuter rail connection to Silicon Valley. New jobs and new urban housing supply may give young people who grew up in Monterey County an incentive to stay in Monterey County. Some local residents may even choose to forgo personal vehicle ownership and exclusively use public transportation, thus reducing traffic congestion and surface parking demands.

The Salinas Valley Chamber of Commerce appreciates the diligence and persistence of the Transportation Agency for Monterey County (TAMC) and its partners as it advances the Monterey County Rail Extension Project. 🌱

subordinate City employees, except lawyers and paralegals in the City Attorney's department, who shall be appointed by the City Attorney."

The next level of city law - below the Charter - is the Municipal Code, which consists of laws enacted by the City Council through ordinances. The City of Salinas Municipal Code includes additional requirements for the City Manager.

In the Municipal Code, Section 2-02.03 lists "powers and duties of the City Manager." Section 2-02.01 prohibits the City Council from interfering with administrative matters assigned to the City Manager. It states that "except for the purpose of inquiry, the council and its members shall deal with the administrative service solely through the city manager, and neither the council nor any member thereof shall give orders to any of the subordinates of the city manager."

And Section 2-02.05 declares that "All department directors are appointed by the city manager and hold and serve at the pleasure of the city manager and shall be deemed at-will employees." Throughout the Municipal Code are other references to duties of the City Manager in specific cases.

City Manager is a Tough Job to Keep

As you might guess, a major challenge for a City Manager is working with the Mayor and City Council. There's a natural tension between elected officials who seek to fulfill the demands of their resident constituents and an appointed professional manager who wants to deliver city services to the people in an efficient manner. In addition, the Mayor and City Council have their own goals and ambitions, and so does the City Manager. For a list of recent Salinas City Managers, see Figure 1.

A City Manager with the highest degree of competence, integrity, and humility is unlikely to withstand an elected official or a faction of elected officials who want to usurp the role of administrator while also serving on the governing board. Likewise, elected officials will get frustrated with a City Manager whom they feel is not listening to them or not communicating effectively.

The League of California Cities (an association of cities) has produced material explaining the functions and roles of the City Manager and the ideal relationship of a City Manager to the Mayor and City Council. As stated in one of its white papers, "Unfortunately, there are many forces at work making unity and a team approach difficult for a city council to achieve. This can be especially true in district cities in which individual council members view their district as a first priority."

Your Chamber's Involvement in City Manager Selection

As a preeminent Salinas Valley business organization, your Chamber of Commerce will take Salinas Municipal Code Section 2-02.03. Powers and duties.

The powers and the duties of the city manager are as follows:

- Administer the day-to-day affairs of the city;
- To employ, discipline, or remove city employees, including department heads, with the exception of the city attorney and the attorneys and paralegals in the city attorney's office;

- To advise the city council on the city's budgets, finances, and fiscal condition; and
- To perform such other functions as the city council chooses to authorize by ordinance.

The city manager shall have such administrative authority as is necessary for carrying out the provisions of this article.

opportunities when available to provide important input to the Mayor, the City Council, and the public about the ideal City Manager.

An emphasis on economic development will be a major priority for the Chamber, as business growth and job creation can lead to improvement in many other areas of importance to the community. Housing and public safety will also be important priorities.

Our official vision is "a thriving, welcoming Salinas Valley where people, families and businesses succeed via economic growth and opportunity." Not everyone agrees with this vision, and we seek a City Manager who regards commerce as an asset and an opportunity for the Salinas Valley, rather than a problem that needs to be addressed with onerous new government regulations and higher taxes and fees. 🌱

The pandemic clearly raised the profile of healthcare systems in the County of Monterey, specifically the people and organizations that play major roles in them. This profile remains high even as time marches on. The increasing importance attached to mental health adds to the seemingly never-ending list of challenges faced by nurses, doctors, and healthcare administrators alike.

Meeting the people and learning more about the key organizations involved in the local healthcare industry was the focus of Leadership Monterey County (LMC) 2023's final session.

Participants visited Salinas Valley Health (see attached photo) and Community Hospital of the Monterey Peninsula (CHOMP). Meetings with both medical staff and administrators illuminated the complex web of issues these organizations must tackle as they not only manage current medical, financial, and related challenges, but also plan for future ones in an increasingly complex and uncertain environment. The day culminated with a presentation by Dr. Steven Packer, President and CEO of CHOMP, during which he shed light on the myths and realities of healthcare in the County of Monterey (see attached photo). After the conclusion of the day's presentations, LMC participants participated in a graduation ceremony held at Tonkin House at CHOMP, which was attended by friends, family, LMC board members, and LMC program sponsors. Jackie Cruz, Vice President, Office of Institutional Advancement, Hartnell College and Executive Director, The Hartnell College Foundation, was the guest speaker (see attached photo).

The LMC program is grateful to Salinas Valley Health for sponsoring the lunch at its recent program, and to CHOMP for sponsoring the reception held in conjunction with the graduation ceremony.

Applications are now being accepted for the 2024 LMC program. To apply, go here. 📍

A Pastor's Perspective on the Art of Failing Forward

by Pastor Todd Anderson

As a pastor, I have often witnessed the transformative power of failure. It is a teacher like no other, shaping us into more resilient, empathetic, and wise individuals. In the world of business, this lesson is especially pertinent. As we enter 2024, I urge you who lead a business and are entrepreneurs, to embrace the art of failure: fail often, fail fast, and fail forward.

Failing often may seem counterintuitive in a culture that prizes success above all else. However, frequent failures indicate taking risks and pushing boundaries, which is essential for innovation and growth. Each failure is a stepping stone, an opportunity to glean insights that only experience can provide. In the scriptures, we are reminded that perseverance through trials builds character. Similarly, the fortitude to continue in the face of failure paves the way for business success.

Failing fast is equally important. In today's fast-paced business environment, agility is key. The quicker you recognize and respond to a failure, the less costly it will be in terms of resources and time. This approach encourages a mindset of constant learning and adaptation. It aligns with the biblical principle of wisdom, which is simply learning from every situation and using that knowledge to make better decisions in the future.

But most importantly, we must learn to fail forward. This means using failure as a catalyst for progress rather than a setback. When a project or idea fails, it's not just an end—it's the beginning of a new understanding. Failing forward involves analyzing what went wrong, adjusting strategies, and applying these lessons to future endeavors. It's about owning mistakes and maintaining a forward trajectory, even when the path involves unexpected detours.

In 2024, as we continue to navigate uncertainties and challenges. Change your perspective on failure. Don't see it as a stain on our record but as a badge of courage—a sign that you are pushing the limits, daring to innovate, and committed to growth. As leaders in business, our response to failure can inspire and motivate our teams, fostering a culture of resilience and continuous improvement.

My prayer for you this year is that you will embrace failure while not lowering your standards. And that you would raise your resilience. Ask God to help you learn from each misstep and quickly move forward with greater insight and determination. This community needs you. It needs humble, gracious, determined leaders who learn from failure and build better families, businesses, churches, and a community that is a great place to live. Amen.
